Description

Is it hot in Rotterdam?

Are you aware that you may be subject to heat stress at your current location?

Do you need extra information about the nearest cool locations?

Be careful! Extreme temperatures are a major cause of death. Real-time updates during extreme conditions can prevent these consequences. The EXTREMA Rotterdam mobile app uses satellite data together with other models and specific data from the city to specify the areas in the city that are most under the influence of extremities. The city of Rotterdam recognizes the problem of high temperatures in the city and advises various cool locations with free drinking water. The mobile app evaluates your real time personalized heat stress at your location and if the risk is high, you will receive a notification. It also gives you guidelines on how to respond to high temperatures in the city of Rotterdam and informs you about cool locations in the neighborhood.
